Re: Player Transfer Agreement

Dear Martin:

We refer to the agreement between the National Hockey League (the "NHL"), on the one hand, and the Czech Ice Hockey Association ("CIHA") and various other IIHF national associations, on the other hand (the "Player Transfer Agreement"), regarding the payment of Development Fees for any Czech player: (i) under contract with a team affiliated with CIHA for the first season of an NHL contract which such Czech player signs with an NHL Club and (ii) who is drafted from and last played for a team in the Canadian Hockey League (the "CHL") or in any other Junior League in North America before signing with an NHL Club (a "Czech Player").

Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary in the Player Transfer Agreement, the parties hereto hereby agree that the NHL will pay a Development Fee for: (i) a "Direct Transfer" pursuant to Article 3.1 of the Player Transfer Agreement provided that such Czech Player has played one (1) season or less in the CHL or in any other Junior League in North America as of the date he signs his NHL contract, and (ii) an "Indirect Transfer" pursuant to Article 3.2 of the Player Transfer Agreement in the event such Czech Player has played more than one (1) season in the CHL or in any other Junior League in North America as of the date he signs his NHL contract. The first season ends on July 31 and the second season starts on August 1.

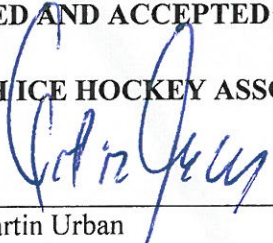

Please confirm your agreement to the terms of this letter agreement by signing below.

Sincerely,

William L. Daly
Deputy Commissioner
National Hockey League
